Footer w links

- Will your site aim to give homogeneous components consistency, or will you prefer to capitalize on diverse components with shifts in aesthetics and mood?

Probably consistency to make things easier on myself.

- Would you prefer to soothe your audience with familiarity and conventions, or grab their attention with innovation and surprises?

Innovation and surprises! I plan to use animations and or transitions

- How will your site generate communicative authority? Is it more appropriate to reference corporate aesthetics, or establish a personalized and intimate relationship with your audience?

Personalized site is what i will build - but i will have lots of facts and sources.
